

Company profile

Welcome to the world full of energy.

Dear customers, dear ladies and gentlemen,

In LUMIUS, for more than fifteen years, we have been dedicated to a good service and care about you, our clients. From the very first moment of our activity, we considered these two things a key body that we must add to the supplies, to succeed.

We are a smaller company on the market; we do not have the background of a large manufacturer or distributor of energy. And so we have to work harder every day for our customers. Many of you appreciate how professionally and carefully we care about your supplies, and you can focus on your core production or service activities.

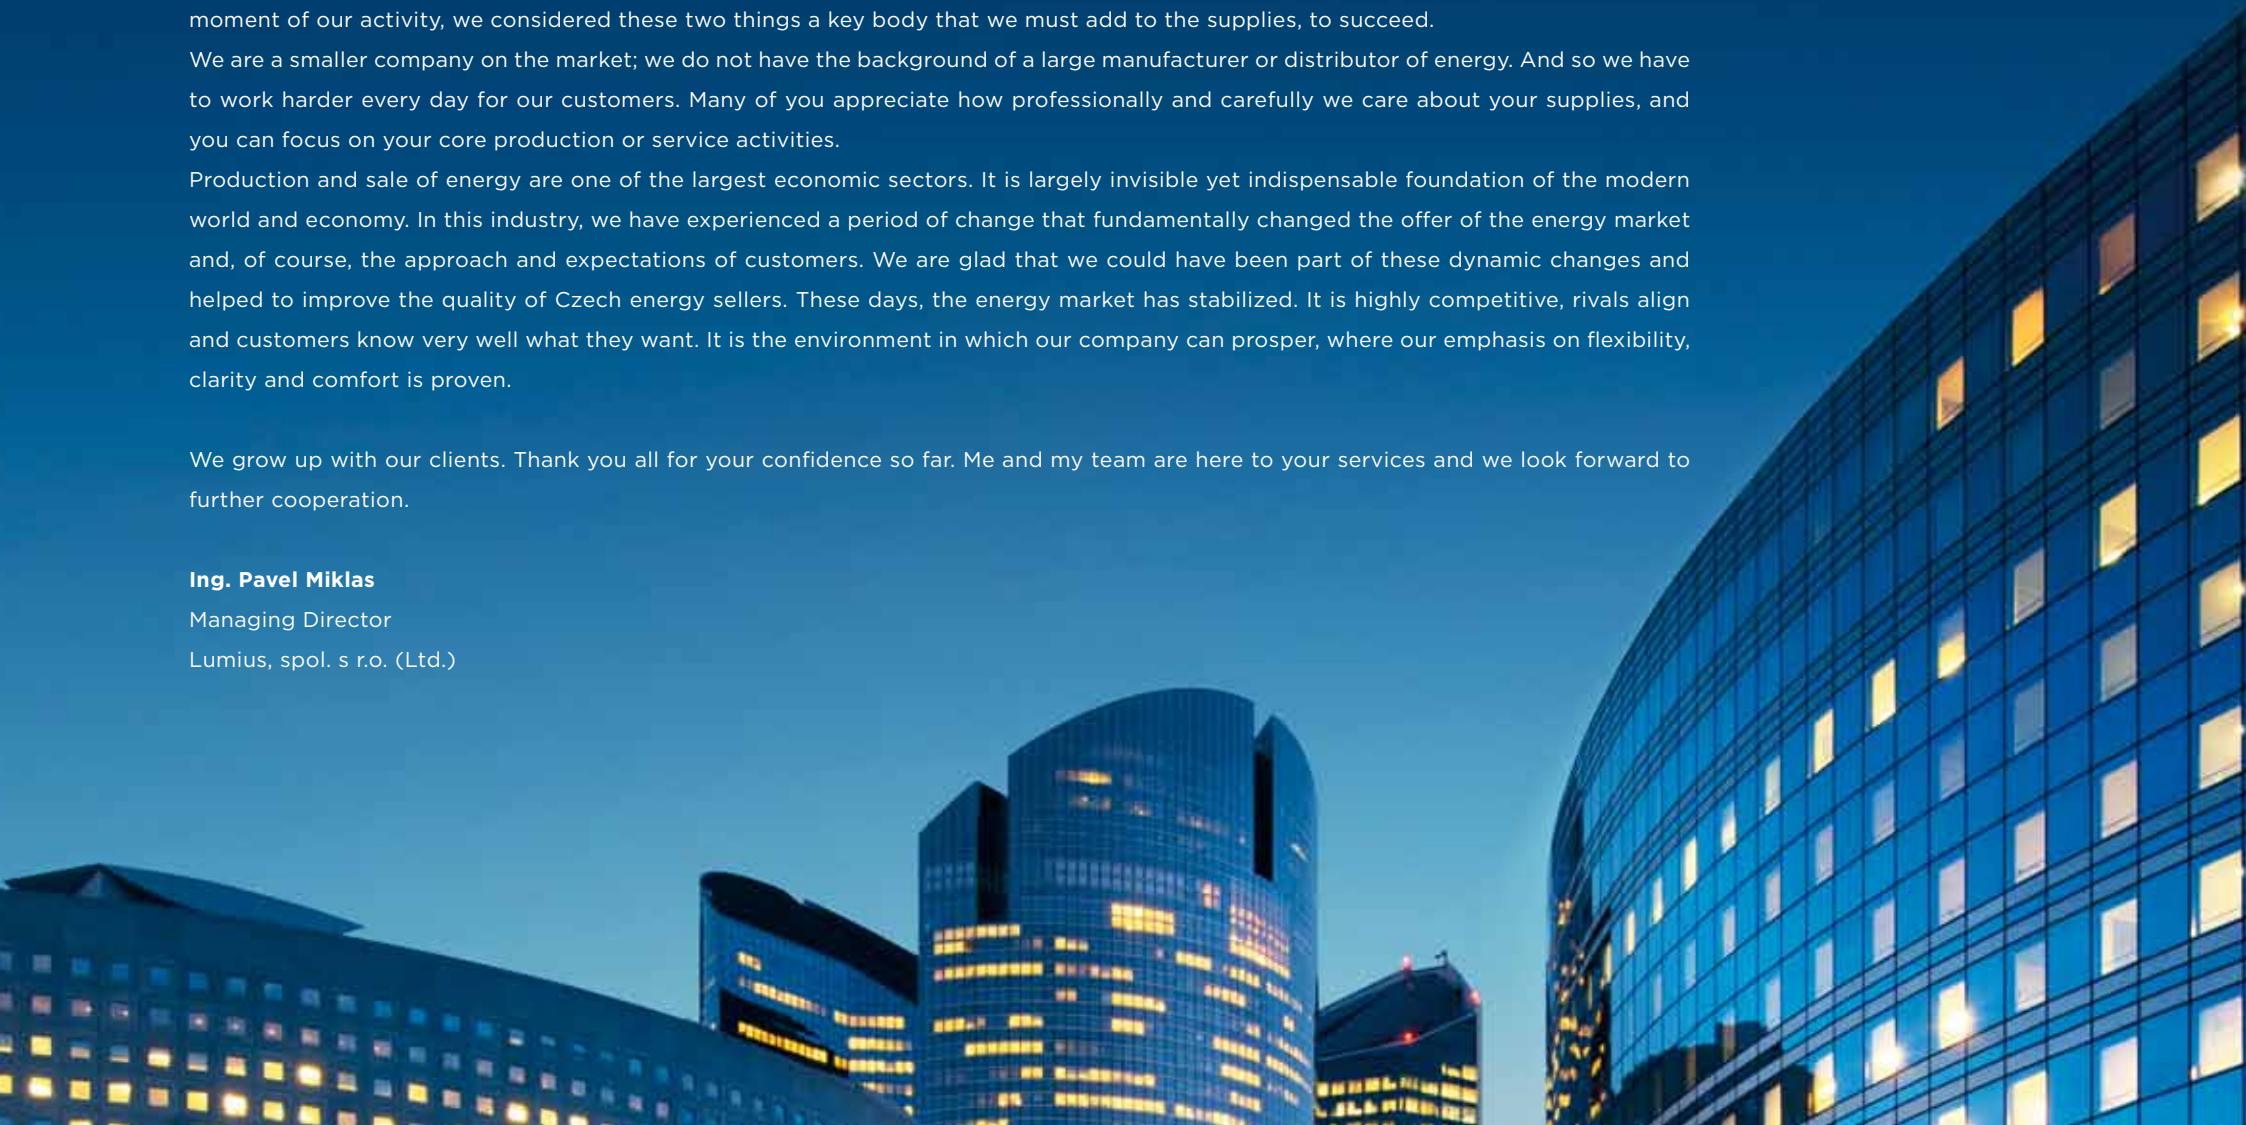

Production and sale of energy are one of the largest economic sectors. It is largely invisible yet indispensable foundation of the modern world and economy. In this industry, we have experienced a period of change that fundamentally changed the offer of the energy market and, of course, the approach and expectations of customers. We are glad that we could have been part of these dynamic changes and helped to improve the quality of Czech energy sellers. These days, the energy market has stabilized. It is highly competitive, rivals align and customers know very well what they want. It is the environment in which our company can prosper, where our emphasis on flexibility, clarity and comfort is proven.

We grow up with our clients. Thank you all for your confidence so far. Me and my team are here to your services and we look forward to further cooperation.

Ing. Pavel Miklas

Managing Director

Lumius, spol. s r.o. (Ltd.)

Simply. Comfortable. Individually.

Innovation

LUMIUS'S basic attitude has always been respect to customers needs. Steadily we are expanding our offering of new services created with regard to convenience for customers. The company also introduced important innovations in the field of energy trading. Our company's approach to the market, for example, has helped to enforce a one-component price for gas on Czech market, which has significantly simplified and clarified the billing for gas consumption. Today, this method is essentially the industry standard. LUMIUS also belonged to the pioneers of the so-called "progressive purchase of energy", today's customer's very popular way of fixing prices for energy commodities.

Flexibility

We build on our long-term relationships with clients, which are based on mutual trust and confidence. We do not use price lists. We can flexibly respond to the customer needs, we can create a tailor-made offer. We bring cost and time savings, professional consultancy in the field of energy and comprehensive care - and in the case of interest, including provisions requested custody of customer's energy facilities - throughout the business cooperation. Thanks to our 24-hour dispatch centre we can very effectively manage energy purchase. We offer a professional approach and ready to help quality team of experts that is fully available to assist all clients' requests.
